Lenahan & Dempsey lawyers have teamed up to produce a $6,000,000.00 settlement for a local man seriously injured in a car accident. The complicated case involved not only the injuries from the accident, but a claim of Insurance Bad Faith as well. The insurance company's initial offer to the seriously injured victim was only $300,000. Lenahan & Dempsey was able to obtain the extra $5.7 million needed to assist the victim with lifelong medical care and living expenses. The case was handled by Lenahan & Dempsey's John R. Lenahan, Jr., Timothy Lenahan and Christine Lezinski.

"This case shows how an innocent person can suffer life-long injuries in the blink of an eye, and yet be forced to fight for his rights against a huge insurance company," said John Lenahan, Jr. "In these cases it's almost as if the victim is put on trial. Thankfully he came to us for help and we used the full resources of our office to help him." The injured man was forced to undergo a surgical procedure that injects an enzyme into his injured spine. Shortly thereafter it was decided a spinal fusion surgery was necessary.

According to Attorney Timothy Lenahan. "The initial offer of only $300,000 from the insurance company shows why individuals need to hire an experienced law firm when they are seriously hurt. The offer simply wasn't fair to our client. Insurance companies have an obligation to treat you fairly. When they don't, it can be a case of Insurance Bad Faith, as it was in this case. We're grateful we were brought into this case early enough to protect our client's rights."

Attorney John Lenahan added, "This case shows why those who are injured often need to be represented by a large firm such as ours. We had the experienced lawyers as well as the expert witnesses capable of handling these type of highly complex cases. Insurance companies are usually represented by teams of lawyers as well as supported by their in-house legal experts. At Lenahan & Dempsey, we can help level the playing field for those who are hurt."

Lenahan & Dempsey has won hundreds of millions of dollars for local families and individuals who have been seriously injured. John R. Lenahan, Jr. and Timothy G. Lenahan are both named to Best Lawyers in America. Both also hold Super Lawyer status as published in Philadelphia Magazine. Christine Lezinski also holds Super Lawyer status. Lenahan & Dempsey is listed in Best Law Firms in America. Details on these honors as well as a representative list of Settlements & Verdicts can be found at www.LenahanDempsey.com
